New to Wilson Elser's national network, our Indiana office bolsters the firm's presence in one of the state's most vibrant trade and transportation hubs. It affords the influence and authority of a national firm in a local setting and serves as a strategic extension of our nearby Chicago office.

It also provides ready access to Wilson Elser's national practice team structure and a host of legal services. By leveraging the benefits of technology, one point of contact can marshal the exact resources each client requires to advance even their most ambitious legal objectives.
