New York State Society of CPAs

DATE: January 24, 2014
LOCATION: Jericho, NY

Thomas Manisero (Partner-White Plains), with Ken Gross of Pace Professional Services, recently spoke to a group of the New York State Society of CPAs about the importance of practice continuation agreements. The presentation stressed the importance for sole practitioners to enter into these agreements as a means to preserve the value of their practices for their families and to continue to provide professional services to their clients in the event that they die or become disabled and are unable to work.
